SEXUAL HARASSMENT IS AGAINST THE LAW

Sexual harassment is a form of discrimination that occurs when an individual makes unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors and/or other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature against his or her wishes.

The harasser can be
- a supervisor
- an agent of the employer
- a supervisor in another area
- a co-worker
- a non-employee
- the same sex as the victim

The prohibition against sexual harassment does not only apply to employers. It also applies to labor organizations, employment agencies, and to individuals who aid and abet an unlawful employment practice.

Sexual harassment occurs when submission to or rejection of this conduct explicitly or implicitly affects an individual's employment, unreasonably interferes with an individual's work performance or creates an intimidating, hostile, or offensive work environment.
Sexual harassment is a violation of state and federal laws.

Requests for Leave
In order to be entitled to the leave, the employee must give at least 30 days notice of the intended date upon which the requested leave is to commence and terminate, unless prevented by medical emergency from doing so. Employees may be requested to provide written certification from a physician caring for the person who is the reason for the leave request, which certification shall specify the probably duration of the requested leave.

School Involvement Leave
An employee who has been employed for 12 consecutive months is entitled to 10 hours of leave during any 12 month period to attend school conferences or other school-related activities for a child of whom the employee is the parent, foster parent, or guardian. A maximum of 24 hours prior to the leave must be given to the employer by the employee. The leave is not required to be paid; except an employee may substitute any accrued paid vacation leave or other appropriate paid leave.

Use of Sick Leave by Adoptive Parent
Any employer who allows sick time or sick leave of an employee to be used after the birth of a child shall allow the same time to be used for the placement of a child 16 years of age or less with an employee in connection with the adoption of the child by the employee.

Continuation of Health Benefits
Prior to the commencement of leave, the employee must pay his employer a sum equal to the premium required to maintain the employee's health benefits in force during the period of leave, which sum is required to be returned to the employee within 10 days following return to work.

Return From Leave
Employees who are granted leave under the Act are entitled to be restored to the position held when the leave commenced, or to a position with equivalent seniority, status, employment benefits, pay and other terms and conditions of employment, including all fringe benefits and service credits that the employee had been entitled to at the commencement of the leave.

Rhode Island's Sick and Safe Leave

What is sick and safe leave?

Most RI employees have the legal right to earn sick and safe leave from work per RI General Law § 28-57. The Healthy and Safe Families and Workplaces Act gives Rhode Island employees the right to take time off from work to care for themselves when they are too sick to work, are injured or have a routine medical appointment. They may also use earned leave to deal with the impact of domestic violence, sexual assault or stalking. In addition, they may use earned leave to assist their child, spouse, domestic partner or other member of their household for the same purposes.

Who qualifies to earn leave?

Most part-time, full-time, seasonal, temporary or other employees who work in Rhode Island more than in any other state, with the following exceptions:

- Employees of local municipalities, state and federal governments and other public entities.
- Per diem nurses who:
- work at health care facilities;
- are under no obligation to work a regular schedule;
- and receive higher pay than others who work a regular schedule while performing the same job.

Can employers have different earned leave policies?

Yes, as long as the policy provides the same benefits and protections that the law requires or better.

How is sick leave earned?

Employees may earn sick/safe leave based on their employer's policy, or, under this act, they are entitled to earn at least one hour of sick/safe leave for every 35 hours worked.

Time starts accruing on the first day of employment.

Full-time employees may earn and use up to 40 hours per year. Once annual cap is reached, accrual stops. Employers may elect to offer more.

Potential waiting periods to use earned leave are:

- 90 days for new employees;
- 180 days for temporary employees; and
- 150 days for seasonal employees.

Is it paid or unpaid?

Employees with 18 or more employees must provide paid sick and safe leave. Employers with 17 or fewer employees must provide earned sick and safe leave, but it does not need to be paid.

Must notice be given?

If the reason for leave has been planned at least 24 hours in advance, the employee must provide notice. In emergencies, notice must be provided as soon as reasonably practicable.

Except where impacted by the RI Food Code, employers cannot ask the reason for expending leave and are required by law to maintain employee confidentiality.

How may it be used?

Sick/safe leave shall be used at the employee's discretion, with the following considerations:

- Employers can impose a minimum block of time, but that block cannot exceed four hours. (Example, the employer might deny using leave in 30-minute increments, but cannot demand that more than four hours be used at one time.)
- Sick/safe leave cannot be used as an excuse for being late.
- An absence for more than three consecutive work days may require documentation.
- Fraudulent misuse of leave may result in disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Can employees face punishment for using leave?

Employers may not take adverse action against an employee for attempting to exercise their legal right to use earned sick/ safe leaves. Examples include; denying the use of time, giving undesirable assignments, reducing work hours or demotion.

Still have questions?

The RI Department of Labor and Training has answers. To learn more, or to report suspected violations of the Healthy and Safe Families and Workplaces Act, call (401) 462-8550 or email DLT.LaborStandards@dlt.ri.gov.
